Dear Sir or Madam:

Antibiotics used to treat human disease are consistently fed to poultry, cattle, and pigs to speed their growth or counteract the effects of crowded living conditions and poor hygiene. Mounting evidence shows that the routine use of human antibiotics in livestock may diminish the drug's ability to cure infections in people. The Food and Drug Administration has the responsibility to ensure that the use of antibiotics on factory farms does not endanger human health.

I ask that you not allow an antibiotic to be used in livestock feed if that antibiotic is used in human medicine.

Sincerely yours,

Susan Miller
